

“After the first week of implementation, it was apparent that TalkPath Live was a success. The program offered many benefits that a traditional program did not. Teachers were able to log on for students from any computer in the school. Our SLP was flexible in schedule and session length. She reviewed the students’ goals and created a program based on their needs [and] interests. She prepared comprehensive session reports, IEP documents, and offered to participate in annual review meetings. TPL has proven to be an efficient and affordable alternative to our traditional speech program, and I would recommend it for any institution looking to meet the needs of 21st century learners.”

“TalkPath Live has been invaluable for my son. The traditional classroom setting was not equipped to handle his individualized needs, [which] caused a lot of heightened anxiety. The dedicated staff have been instrumental and understanding of my child’s unique needs, working rigorously to formulate tailored lessons creatively and collaboratively, to the point where progress is happening. He is eager, asks questions, and wants to learn more!”

“This service is making such a big impact in our school! It’s easy to use, highly reliable, and incredibly convenient in terms of session scheduling. The kids love the on-screen interaction with their therapists, and we’re really impressed by the quality and diversity of the therapy content, as well as the knowledge and experience of our SLP. We started with just speech therapy, but we’re so pleased with our outcomes so far that we’re now considering TPL for other related services.”

“Our school has been very happy with the services you offer. The ability to serve our students on home instruction has been incredible. For one student in particular who needed speech, education, and counseling, TPL saved us significantly on resources deployed to the home and dramatically cut down our overall costs for the student (close to 50%). Online delivery creates a safe and less intrusive feel for the student who might suffer with traditional routes to education and related services. Trying to educate students on home instruction is a challenge. TPL meets that challenge with ease, flexibility, lower cost, and incredible quality. You cannot beat that!”

“TalkPath Live has really helped me with my speech. My therapist has worked with me on words, and now we are moving on to sentences. The video and audio is live—[my SLP] is right in the room with me. There are no speech therapists in our immediate area, and Medicare and private insurance limit the amount of speech therapy I can get. I am thankful TalkPath Live is there for me.”

“My husband has been [using TPL] for over a year, and I am delighted with it. He looks forward to his sessions, [which are] an important social connection and therapeutic opportunity for him. His therapist is warm and friendly and has gone out of her way to help. It is also very professional—there was a thorough assessment and established goals that continue to evolve as he improves. ... Much thought and creativity go into exactly what would benefit my husband each session. It is the most professional speech therapy he has received since his stroke 14 years ago ... and I don’t have to drive him anywhere or be too involved. I couldn’t be happier with the results!”

“My wife of 57 years, Lucy, had her stroke on May 10, 1998, and she has aphasia. For the past three months, Lucy has been receiving group speech therapy through TalkPath Live. This has been a great help for her with her communication skills. During her sessions, they practice writing, drawing pictures, and talking about various subject[s]. The other participants have commented on how much better Lucy has been able to participate in the group. She looks forward to her weekly sessions, and it is a very easy system to log in to. If it were up to Lucy, she would [have] a session every day—that is how much she enjoys the group activity. As I have learned, the more you practice, the better you get. Even after 19 years, Lucy is still making progress with her speech, reading, and writing skills.”

“As a longtime SLP, I can say with confidence that telespeech offers as much fidelity and quality as in-person therapy. I love the ease and flexibility this new avenue of service delivery affords me, but most of all, I love improving the lives of my diverse array of clients.”
